“ Where do I start? Aleta is the most amazing woman I've ever known.

We've been Neighbors since 2007. We'd always talk, I'd bring food by occasionally, and she would always come to our yard sales. In Late 2019 she was preparing for her upcoming back surgery and needed someone to help her around the house and with her dogs. I started going over everyday. I took her and picked her up from her surgery and since then she couldn't get rid of me.

I'd go over every morning and evening, helping her and cooking and cleaning. We'd chat about everything. She told me great stories about her life, her family and her relationship with the Lord. We had so much in common. We quickly became fast Friends.

When Covid hit, She was my light through, as I'm sure I was hers. I taught her how to order groceries delivery. She thought that was great. She taught me to not be so hard on myself. We spent every evening yelling at the TV watching Wheel of Fortune and the news. We solved together, ALL the world's problems.

She was the holder of all my secrets and I hers. Had she been 20-40 years younger,... well, We probably could have gotten into some trouble.

Her heart for others, causes, and volunteering was wider than any ocean. What an awesome impact she's had on everyone who's had the honor to know her.

While I rejoice in the FACT that she is with our Savoir, I mourn the loss of my best Friend. I miss our nightly talks, her stories, her jokes, her love for others, and her kindness.

The world truly lost an amazing woman of God. I can't wait to see her again.

“ I met Aleta through my daughter-in-law, Ashley. Aleta was like a mother to Ashley and she loved her dearly taking care of her and making sure she was ok. In turn, Aleta took care of Ashley and my son Myles by helping with things they needed.

Aleta was a delight to be around. 2 years ago when San Angelo became frozen, Aleta, her 3 dogs, as well as my son and Ashley came to stay since we had heat and they didn't. It was so cold and we had no water, but with all of us together, we had a good time.

Aleta will be greatly missed by our family. We were blessed to have known such a kind and generous lady.
