

Anna Belle Trimble

October 24, 2014

Ann Trimble (Anna Belle Boynton), 87, passed from this life on October 24, 2014, following an accident at home.

Ann was born December 8th, 1926 in Winona, Texas, to Lonnie and Francis (Kay) Boynton, the second of four children. Growing up in East Texas, she married Earl A. Trimble, a World War II veteran from Menard, TX. They got married on October 19, 1946, in Shreveport, LA.

She was a competent and intelligent mother with a radiant smile, and an outgoing personality who made friends easily. She labored tirelessly with her husband and family to found several businesses, including an ongoing water system service company and a rural water utility company based in Tyler, TX. In 1988, she and Earl retired to their ranch near Fort McKavett, in Kimble County. She attended Murr Church of Christ on RR 1674, near their home, and testified often of her trust in the Lord Jesus Christ for her source of help as well as the worlds'. She loved adventurous travel, fishing, hunting, water skiing, and just about any game you wanted to play.

Ann is preceded in death by her parents and first born daughter, Jo Anna Oxford, wife of Donald W. Oxford, of Tyler, TX.

She is survived by her loving family, husband of 68 years; daughter Kay

Metzler and husband Timothy of San Antonio; son Glenn Trimble and wife Barbara of Tyler; seven grandchildren; twenty-three great grandchildren; and seven great-great grandchildren.

Pallbearers are Timothy I. Metzler, Jason Trimble, Tony Oxford, Jordan Trimble, Timothy P. Metzler, and David Kellogg.

Memorials are appreciated and may be sent to the American Heart Association, 7272 Greenville Ave. Dallas, TX 75231.
