“ Ryan and Cegie, your dad and I grew up together from the 3rd grade on and were best friends all through high school. I honestly really dont know how we survived some of the things we did but all those things only made us closer. A true friend is one that even when years pass without talking or seeing each other you can pick up right where you always were when you did get together. That is the way Bill and I had it and I will miss that very much. I pray comfort and peace on your families and all of Bill's extended family as well.
