

Jason Anthony Uranga

October 21, 1983 - July 3, 2024

It is with great sadness and regret that Jason Anthony Uranga (40) departed this life on July 3rd, 2024. Born to Anthony Uranga and Rammie Moore on October 21, 1983, in Big Spring TX. He was a proud father to his three children Violet, Skarlet, and Dax Uranga whom he loved very deeply. Jason was residing in Lampasas at the time of his death with his loving wife Anna Uranga.

In his early years Jason attended school in Marble Falls TX, where he met many lifelong friends. He soon moved to Austin and attended culinary school. He worked as a chef for many years before changing his profession to plumbing. He would say cooking is his passion, but plumbing paid the bills!

Jason traveled to many states and had many life changing experiences, but eventually found his way back to Texas.

His love for music was profound! He was completely in tune with his music and enjoyed going to concerts and just sitting with loved ones listening to music. His perfect day was by the water whether it be fishing, boating, swimming, or just watching the sun set over the water with his wife Anna.

He was loved by so many and was always willing to be a teacher of his trades! He was always eager to share his knowledge.

His family and friends will miss his big smile and warm hugs! He is missed by so many including his stepfather Johnny Moore who helped in building the man Jason was and his stepmother Veronica Uranga, who was present through so much of his life! He had many cousins, aunts, and uncles that will miss him dearly!

Jason was a beautiful person, in all his imperfections, he was Beautiful!!

He died just the way he lived.

He lived on his terms.

He fought all the norms.

And he paved his own way through this world!
