“Wow where can I start, I knew Moses all my life since I was probably about 10 he was older than me by 8 years but he was such I can't explain it he was such a nice and respectful person that he treated you like age didn't matter. I will miss him dearly I just found out recently that he passed and I couldn't stop crying and I know that the Gates of Heaven were wide open when he went to his final residence. As far as getting off the side note I have a funny story. It was me his little brother Rocky and Moses and we used to go fishing in the ponds over and copano Cove I don't know why it said Copperas Cove but it was copano Cove off of Janisett Lane, when we went fishing we had to bring a shotgun with us cuz it was so many snakes. This one instance we went fishing and we had Trails going back to the house and we were walking back through one of them and all of a sudden there was about a I'd say maybe a 4 ft cottonmouth just right there laying right in the middle of the path and so I took my fishing pole and I pushed it down on the snake and told Rocky and Moses to go around me and I was going to take off after they got around get out of there, well that plan went well but then when I lifted up my fishing pole something funny happened the snake was flying the hook had hooked into it LOL so if my memory serves me right I told Moses to shoot it and after a little bit of hesitation he pointed that shotgun at the snake.. but he missed the snake and shot my fishing pole. I lost my father in 2010 to cancer, my father and Moses were real good friends and he actually got him a job years ago at Global x-ray welding inspection business it was with the heavy heart that this world was robbed of a decent human being and a kind human being I don't think he had a angry bone in his body. Moses you will be missed I did love you and I still love you brother hope you're doing well don't forget about me when you're looking down. My condolences go to the family Rocky Cynthia Mom Dad I'm so sorry words can't explain I just thought I would share a memory. Rest in peace we miss you
